THE NAME INGALLS

The name INGALLS is of Scandinavian origin and is derived from "The Ingialld", a valley or glen in Norway. In those ancient days men were known only by a given name and were distinguished by their occupation or some other thing that identified them from other men. John lived on a mountain, so he was known as John of the mountain, which later on when men took two names, became John Mountain. So it is easy to see how the people of "The Ingialld" should be known as the Ingalls, or as the Ingles, or some like variation of this name. We find the name in various forms today, such as Ingals, Ingles, and Engles.

THE NORTHMEN

2021146

These bold and restless men of the North, known as "Northmen" or "Norsemen", first crossed the seas to Denmark where they occupied the coastal lands and gradually mixed with the native people and in later years became "Danes". They were a fierce and warlike race and began to sail in their rude craft the neighboring seas and prey upon and subjugate the people which they found in their wild adventures along the coasts. They sailed along Western Europe to France, to Spain, and through Gibraltar into the Mediterranean. They landed in England and settled there nearly five hundred years before the historic voyage of Columbus. They pushed boldly westward by way of Spitzbergen, Iceland, and Greenland until they reached the eastern coast of North America.

LEIF ERICSON

In the year 1000 Leif Ericson, son of Eric the Red, who had planted a colony in Greenland, made a temporary settlement in America, which was named "Vine Land" or Vinland". As the vine does not grow north of 47 degrees of latitude, this settlement was probably somewhere on the New England coast. Several voyages were made according to Norse sagas to Vinland on which the voyagers encountered Indians whom they called "Skrælings" or inferior men. At the time of Columbus in 1492 these voyages had been long forgotten and he never heard of them. In this forward surging of the wild and hardy men of the North we can well imagine that the people of the Ingialld took part and thereby carried their name to Normandy, to England and to America.

THE NORTHMEN OR DANES INVADE ENGLAND

In the middle of the ninth century the Northmen or Danes descended in force upon the shores of Britain where they established themselves and waged war against the Anglo-Saxons, who had some 200 years before overrun and conquered England. When Alfred the Great became king of England in 871 A.D. his first great task was a contest with the Danes. In 878 A.D. he succeeded in forcing the Danes to a treaty of peace which confined them to the County of Lincolnshire; and it was from Lincolnshire that the first Ingalls Family came to America. The name of Ingalls is common in Lincolnshire, England, to this day.

THE NORTHMEN INVADE FRANCE

The Northmen or Danes, not only held part of England but on the mainland of Europe they went to the South and in France found a fair and fertile province where they settled and called it Normandy. In the year 1066 A. D., William the Conqueror, Duke of Normandy, invaded England and at the Battle of Hastings overthrew the English king and became the ruler of England. Thus the Northmen of England and the Northmen of France built up the English people in England.. They are partly Scandinavian and partly Anglo-Saxon.

THE DOOMSDAY BOOK

In 1086 King William ordered a survey and valuation to be made of the whole realm outside of London. The returns of this survey were known as the Domesday or Doomsday Book. The English people gave it this name because like the "Day of Doom" it spared no one. By means of this "Book" each man's name, possessions, and responsibilities became known. The Doomsday Book is still in existence. It records our family name in England, stating that the name came from Normandy with King William. It records a Baron Ingald, a tenant of King William at Rerabi and Elvestone, Leicestershire, 1080 A. D. who came from Normandy. We may assume that the people of the Ingialld went to France as well as to England.

RECORDS OF "INGALLS" WILLS

The earliest record of Ingalls Wills found in England is the Will of Henry Ingalls, grandfather of Edmund and Francis Ingalls, the first to come to America. The Will was made in 1555 and an abstract was found in the Probate Court attached to Lincoln Cathedral. The Will gave to his wife, Johan, his property during her natural life. It gave to the maintenance of the high altar, twelve pence. The balance of his effects was to be divided amongst his six children after the death of his wife. It names his wife, Johan, executrix, also a son, James, and a brother-in-law, Thomas Wytton.

The next Will recorded is that of Robert, the father of Edmund and Francis, made in 1617. "In ye name of God, Amen. Robert Ingalls of Skirbeck in the County of Lincoln, Yeoman, being sick in body but of good and perfect memory, etc.: Give Elizabeth, my wife, during her natural life all my effects; after her death to Edmund, My Elder Sonne, who was lawfully begotten; and for want of issue after Edmund's decease to Francis, My Youngest Sonne, and failing issue to the natural heirs of Robert Ingalls forever. Give to the poor of Skirbeck ten shillings, one half at once.

Wife, Elizabeth, and Edmund, Sonne, Executors."

THE FIRST "INGALLS" FAMILIES IN AMERICA

The first family of Ingalls that came as settlers in America were Edmund and Francis Ingalls, the sons of Robert Ingalls of Skirbeck, Lincolnshire, England. Their descendants are widely distributed in this country. They have been in the front ranks of every immigration to new sections. They have always been found with the rugged hand and pioneer spirit in subduing the wilderness and building up a great nation.

GENEALOGY OF JACOB INGALLS IN AMERICA

EDMUND INGALLS, son of Robert and grandson of Henry Ingalls, was born at Skirbeck, Lincolnshire, England, 1598. He came to Salem, Mass., with Governor Endicott's company in 1628. With his brother, Francis, and four others he began the settlement of Lynn, Mass., in 1629. He was a man of good character even though the following court record is found "20/4/1646 Edmund Ingalls was fined for bringing home sticks in both his arms on the Sabbath Day from Mr. Holyoke's rails: witnesses—Obadaya Flood, Joseph Flood and Jane Flood." These witnesses were probably jealous neighbors, and the incident goes to show how strict the Puritans observed the Sabbath in those early times.

Edmund Ingalls was engaged in farming and with his brother, Francis, started the first tannery in Lynn, Mass. His name is often found on the town records showing that he was one of its prominent citizens. In March 1648 while traveling to Boston on horseback, owing to a defective bridge, he was drowned in the Saugus River. His will was probated September 16, 1648 and his estate appraised at 135 pounds. His wife Ann was made executor of his will. They had ten children of whom four were sons; namely, Robert, John, Henry and Samuel. Francis Ingalls left no male descendants.

JOHN INGALLS, the second son of Edmund and Ann Ingalls was born at Skirbeck, England in 1625. He was married May 26, 1667 to Elizabeth Barrett of Salem, Mass. He left Lynn previous to 1687 to live in Tiverton, Rhode Island. The following record shows that he moved to Bristol, R. I. "John Ingalls of the church of Bristol, R. I., 1687 late of Tiverton, R. I." He next moved to Rehoboth, Mass. where he lived until he died at the age of 96. It is recorded, "Old John Ingalls died December 31, 1721." John's brother, Robert, stayed on the Homestead in Lynn, Mass. Henry went to live in Andover, Mass., and Samuel to Ipswich, Mass. John and Elizabeth Barrett Ingalls left four children: John, Elizabeth, Sarah and Edmund. They lived in Rehoboth, Mass., from which town the Jacob Ingalls Family came.

EDMUND INGALLS, the youngest son of John and Elizabeth Barrett Ingalls, was born either at Bristol, R.I., or Cumberland, R.I., about 1680. He went with his parents to Rehoboth, Mass., before 1694. He married Eunice Ludden of Braintree, Mass., Nov. 29, 1705. They had seven children, all of whom married and settled in Rehoboth or neighboring towns. The children in order of birth were: Benjamin, Elizabeth, Ebenezer, Edmund, Eunice, Joseph and Samuel. He died at Rehoboth about 1755.

JOSEPH INGALLS, the fourth son of Edmund and Eunice Luddin Ingalls, was born at Rehoboth, Mass., Nov. 29, 1718. He married Cordellay Ann Bullock about 1740. They had a large family of children of which Joseph, Jr., was the father of JACOB INGALLS. He moved to Otsego County, N.Y. State and died there in 1790.

*JOSEPH INGALLS, JR., the eldest son of Joseph and Cordellay Bullock Ingalls was born June 8, 1744 at Rehoboth, Mass. He married Roby Norton in 1763. He was a Revolutionary soldier from 1775 to 1780. He went with his family to Otsego County, N. Y. Later he lived with his son, Jacob, in Westerlo, N. Y. He is buried in Locust Cemetery, Norton Hill, N. Y.

*JACOB INGALLS, son of Joseph and Roby (Norton) Ingalls, was born at Rehoboth, Mass., June 27, 1764. He married Susannah Goff, October 9, 1793. They had five sons and one daughter. The sons were: Enoch, Henry, John, Truman and Cyrus. The daughter, Cornelia, died in infancy. Jacob Ingalls was a Revolutionary soldier and the following record is found in the Massachusetts' Revolutionary Roll:

“Ingalls, Jacob, Rehoboth, descriptive list of men raised to reinforce the Continental Army for the term of six months, agreeable to resolve of June 5, 1780. Returned as received of Justin Ely, Commissioner, by Brig. General John Glover at Springfield on July 11, 1780: age 16 years, stature 5 feet 3 inches, complexion ruddy, engaged for town of Rehoboth.

Arrived at Springfield July 10, 1780; marched to camp July 11 under command of Ensign Bancroft; also, private in Captain William North's 1st company, Col. Henry Jackson's 16th regiment; pay roll for June and July, 1780; also, service from July 24, 1780 — 8 days; pay roll for six months service and returned by Brig. General Patterson as having passed muster in a return, dated Camp Totoway, October 25, 1780.

Pay roll for six months men raised by the town of Rehoboth for service in the Continental Army during 1780; marched to West Point July 7, 1780; discharged Dec. 9, 1780 — 5 mo. 12 days, including 10 days (200 miles) travel home; also, private, Captain Simeon Cole's Company, Col. Dean's regiment. Service Mar. 6, 1781, 10 days, company raised to serve on a 40 days expedition to Rhode Island but discharged Mar. 15, 1781 by order of Major General Lincoln.”

Jacob Ingalls left Rehoboth, Mass., and went to Otsego County in New York State after the Revolution. In 1793 he came to the town of Westerlo, made a clearing, built a log cabin, and then returned to Rehoboth for his bride. So industrious and hard working was he that in 1818, twenty-five years after he had made a clearing in the wilderness, he won a silver tea set, valued at $150, offered by the Albany County Agricultural Society for the best fenced and best kept farm in Albany County. The farm contained 160 acres of land. He lived on this place until his death Oct. 17, 1841. He is buried in Locust Cemetery near Norton Hill, N. Y.
